

Ioan Doré LANDAU is Emeritus Research Director at C.N.R.S. (National Center for Scientific Research) and works at the GIPSA-LAB(CNRS/INPG), Control Department, Institut National Polytechnique de Grenoble.

His research interests encompass theory and applications in system identification, adaptive control, robust digital control and nonlinear systems. He has authored and co-authored over 200 papers on these subjects. He is the author and co-author of several books including: Adaptive Control - The Model Reference Approach (Dekker 1979), System Identification and Control Design (Hermès 1993, Prentice Hall 1990). Digital Control Systems(Springer 2005, Hermes-Lavoisier, 2002) and co-author of the books Adaptive Control - Theory and Practice (in Japanese -Ohm 1981) (with M. Tomizuka) and Adaptive Control (Springer 1997, 2011) (with R. Lozano and M. M'Saad) and Adaptive and Robust Active Vibration Control (Springer, 2016) (with T.B. Airimitoiae, A. Castellanos, and A. Constantinescu).

Dr. Landau is an IFAC Fellow. He was the recipient of the Rufus Oldenburger Medal 2000 from the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, the Great Gold Medal at Invention Exhibition Vienna (1968), the CNRS Silver Medal (1982) and the Price Monpetit from the French Academy of Science (1990). He is “Doctor Honoris Causa” of the Faculté des Sciences, Université Catholique de Louvain-la- Neuve (2003) and of the University « Politehnica », Bucarest, 2017.
